

Taking the train is good for the environment, especially when you walk, bike, or take transit to the station.

